The Electrate Rahlway.—The construction of the Mount Vernou Electric Railway is rapidly approaching completion. One of the engineer thinks he will be able to get up steam by Saturday in order that a trial trip over the road may be made on that day. The officers of the road however, seem to think that cars cannot be run before next week. Two coaches for the road were placed on the Cameron street track to day, and were viewed by crowds of prople all of whom rejoiced to see cars again on our streets. The rail has appointed Mr. J. B. T. Thornton Commonwealth's Attorney for that a go, for the premium on which he gave his note. He died before the note became due. So, without any expense, he secured his heirs that much.
